Dedicated to my nephew Joe.

I Love you more than you know.

Preface

Dear Joe,

Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life

I am writing this a few days before your 21st birthday. There is no time left to raise you. There is no longer any way to direct you or instruct you. For, at this point, you are convinced that we (your family) are the creators of empty noise and senseless worry. You have reached that point in this life where there is nothing more we can do or say to convince you that some of the choices you make are not necessarily your best options or in your best interest.

Youth and naiveté are wondrous things which contribute to the ignorance that is bliss. Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life One only has the luxury of such things for so short a time. When viewed in retrospect it is but a fleeting moment in which we are allowed to indulge in such blissful ignorance. All too soon the reality and responsibility of the “real” world sets in and surrounds us. There will be bills to pay, deadlines to meet, chores to do, and not nearly enough time.

As you move into adulthood you will find that Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life more Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life is expected of you, both by the world as well Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life as yourself. You will discover that Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life playing games is more of a luxury than a past-time. Finding two, four, six, or eight hours to manipulate a character on screen will be possible, but only at the sacrifice of some other task that demands your attention. But this is as it should be for it will make that time more valuable and rewarding.

In time you will complete your education and enter into the working world. There, unfortunately, you will be scrutinized at every turn. Almost everything you do or say, as well as how you do or say it, will be evaluated, weighed, and judged by someone, whether rightfully so or not. It will be interesting to see what field of endeavor you choose. I know that you have it within you to be a great success and to make a difference in the lives of others, and in the world as Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life well. My only prayer is that you Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life find, and follow, your bliss, whatever that may be.

Relationships will come Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life and go. Friends will find their own level in your life just as water seeks its own level. The only relationships that are forever are those you share with family. Regardless, whether it is friends, family, or romantic entanglements, know that every relationship appears in your life to show you something about yourself. While these revelations may be uncomfortable at times they are necessary and only appear when you are ready to grow through Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life whatever the issue is that arises.

And so, my dear boy, it is with great love that I Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life present you with these tips for living. You can take them to heart and value their wisdom. You can implement them at any time or at all times. You can embody them, embrace them, and employ them ... or not. The choice is entirely up to you.

With All My Love,

Uncle B

P.S. Know that these words come not only from me but from the Angels as well.

1.

Always carry a handkerchief; you never know when you may need it.

More importantly, you never know when somebody else may need it.

When you leave the house, always look presentable.

Make certain that your clothes are clean, your teeth are brushed, your hair is combed, and that you've checked for "danglers."

It never fails, when you leave home looking a mess you will inevitably encounter someone you want to impress favorably. You only get one chance to make a first impression.

Make it a good one.

3.

Always be respectful Because I Love You: 101 Tips for Life of others.

It is only by being respectful that you earn respect.

Treat everyone in the same manner in which you desire to be treated.

This is the Golden Rule in action.

This applies to every area of your life.
