Spiritual Practices for Everyday Life

Everyday life today is busier and more distracting than it has ever been before. While cell phones and texting make it easier Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation to keep track of children and each other, they also make it harder to get away from the demands that overwhelm us. Time, it seems, is a shrinking commodity. But God, the Creator of time, has given us the keys to leading a life that may be challenging but not overwhelming. In Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation fact, he offers us tools to do what seems impossible and come away refreshed and renewed. These tools are called spiritual practices, or spiritual disciplines.

Spiritual practices are holy habits. They are rooted in God's word, and they go back to creation itself. God has hardwired us to thrive when we obey him, even Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation when it seems like his instructions defy our "common sense." Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation When we engage in the holy habits that God has ordained, Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation time takes on a new dimension. What seems impossible is actually easy; it's easy because Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation we are tapping into God's resources.

The holy habits that we call spiritual practices are all geared to position us in a place where we Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation can allow the Holy Spirit to work Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation in us and through us, to grant us power and strength to do the things we can't do on our own. They take us to a place where we can become intimate with God.

While holy habits and everyday life may sound like opposites, they really aren't.

As you learn to incorporate spiritual practices into your Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation life, you'll find that everyday life is easier. At the same time, you will draw closer to God and come to a place where you can luxuriate in his rich blessings. Here is a simple example. Elizabeth Collings hated running household Everyday Matters Bible Studies for Women-Reconciliation errands. Picking up dry cleaning, doing the grocery shopping, and chauffeuring her kids felt like a never-ending litany of menial chores. One day she had a simple realization that changed her life. That day she began to use her "chore time" as a time of prayer and fellowship with God.

Whenever Elizabeth walked the aisle of the supermarket, she prayed for each person who would eat the item of food she selected. On her way to pick up her children, she would lay their lives out before God, asking him to be there for them even when she couldn't. Each errand became an opportunity for fellowship with God. The chore that had been so tedious became a precious part of her routine that she cherished.
