A couple of white plastic bags borne by the wind stick to my face.

I take them off my mask's visor and release them – the bags, re-united with the wind, float away like jellyfish.

No actual animal lives here – not the regular ones, nor the radiation-adjusted mutants.

Not a single living blade of grass or a leaf for kilometers around... It's just soot and melted iron, ashes and concrete rubble around here. Should the wind bring any seeds here, they, after falling onto this cursed soil, would simply wither and METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) never even get a chance to sprout.

Even the plastic bags stopping here for METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) a bit of rest don't stay long and soon continue their aimless migration.

I come here every day and I've long since lost count of the days I spent here.

I don a heavy hazard suit, put on my gas mask, take my weapon and start my climb up the escalator. At METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) first people used to see me off with METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) unusual stares, a mix of condescension, admiration and mockery. They got used METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) to it METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) soon, and now they pay me no attention at all. I like it better this way.

I don't even know what am I looking for here myself. I might not even be looking for anything in particular at all. After all, they do say that the murderers are for some reason drawn towards the place where they carried out their crime, so might it just be an acute case of that?

One thing I know for certain – I'm not going to find any forgiveness or hope here.

I rabble the dirt with my boot, rummage through the melted iron bars.

I only find soot instead of forgiveness and ashes instead of hope.

And I will be coming here METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) until my legs give.

They gave me a hero's welcome.

They were ragged, they were tattered, bloodied and burned. I came down from a bomb-crippled concrete METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) broadcast tower, but the look in their eyes told me I might as well be coming down from heaven in a shiny chariot.

All I wanted was METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) to die, so I ripped the gas mask off my face. The air, the polluted and poisoned air, which I wanted to taste for so long, filled my lungs. Yet I felt nothing.

I stumbled along the street hoping something would just eat me before I got back to the Metro. But the monsters that were quite recently longing for my blood had apparently developed disgust towards it now.

And when I reached the Metro, a crowd was already waiting for me there.

They came topside despite the taboo, to see the ground I won back for their children from the demons. And when they saw me breathe surface's frosty air some of them started removing their masks, too. It seemed to them that my victory METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) had already given their long lost METRO 2033: The Gospel According to Artyom. (A link to Metro 2034). (?etro series) world right back to them. What they didn't know was that I'd just destroyed their last chance for salvation. And I never told them.
