CHAPTER ONE

"You don't waste time do you?"

Lexy Truman moved her hands to quickly cover her nude body, whirling around.

It was a hard deep male voice. It came like a gunshot breaking the stillness in the surrounding trees. "Already making yourself quiet at home...I should thank you for the free show."

Her feet slipped on the stones in the sun heated man-made lake. Skinny-dipping might Sins of Yesterday not have been the best idea. Coughing she forced her head above the surface blinking rapidly trying to clear her eyes Sins of Yesterday of water. Her curly short raven hair did nothing to help, forming an arc over her forehead curtaining her honey brown eyes.

"I'm sure Sins of Yesterday you make a habit of this, tell me is this how you tempt your men?"

She looked in the direction of the voice, she couldn't see the man, she turned to her right and there he was tall, fully dressed in black his face shielded in shadow. From this distance he looked imposing and impressive...and dangerous. She should scream for help though it was unlikely anyone would hear her, she was too far from Robert Goldstein's West Sins of Yesterday Austin home. The man reached for the zip on his trousers his shirt already off sleek muscles ripping against bronzed skin she found herself staring before she came to her senses Sins of Yesterday and started to swim Sins of Yesterday pushing hard for the other end of the lake's bank. She heard the splash of his dive and swam harder, pushing herself even more. A gasp passed her lips as she felt her right leg stitch up.

"Not now, not..."

"Remain where you are."

He was close she could Sins of Yesterday feel it in the ripple of the lake's surface. She pounded the water with her fists.

"You are aware your thrashing around like that makes for incredible viewing."

She froze for a second. He was mocking her. Her face set as she fisted her hands and continued to pound water, splashing it everywhere but aiming his way. It didn't Sins of Yesterday work he was suddenly in front of her and even filled with fright his arresting features left a powerful impression.

"I must admit I quiet enjoy this method of yours of temptation."

Her breath ripped in her throat as his green eyes landed on hers. She was suddenly short of breath. He thought she was trying to tempt him?

"Who a-are you, what d-do you want?"

"You are beautiful, I'll give you that." It sounded like an insult, a cold twist at one corner of his mouth. "I should have expected that I suppose."

The eyes that captivated her glittered like ice, only a glacier felt warmer. "You'd have to be to achieve your purpose."

The man was just shooting barbs at her, a stranger and here she was struggling to cover her nakedness and stay above water. She was getting angry.

"I can't say I quiet know what you mean nor do I really care. Now please move."

"It seems to me you need my help, perhaps a little pleasantness would serve you."

"I think I'd rather drown, excuse me." She tried to swim past him succeeding in only going under and spluttering up again.

"Either we do this the easy way or the hard way." He swam closer as he spoke, water running in lines down his face and chest. She moved back Sins of Yesterday hastily Sins of Yesterday her gaze drawn to his bare flesh only to find she was going underwater again. She felt his strong hands pull her up and fought.

"You must have a death wish or is this simply another one of your methods Miss Truman?"

She stopped. He knew her name. "Who are y-you...let me go."

He pulled her against his side with one arm and started to swim towards the shore Sins of Yesterday with the other, Sins of Yesterday his strength making it feel easy. She let him pull her along shocked at the delicious tingles flying Sins of Yesterday through her skin that touched his. He was all perfect aligned muscle, completely male and sinful. She found it hard to breathe, his scent setting her blood on fire she shook her head. She needed to get it together, he was practically kidnapping her, she bit her lip as she plotted her best escape. Quickly she covered her bare chest with her hands although any interest barely flickered on his hard face. She looked down through the water at least she had her bikini bottom on. She gritted her teeth, if she had Sins of Yesterday grown out her nails instead of keeping them short to make her waitressing job easy, she could Sins of Yesterday have sunk them into his eyes and gained her freedom. She looked at the firm hard-nosed lines of his face...no likely they would just bounce off.

Sins of Yesterday

Women like her sickened his gut and this one was beautiful, extremely so. A dangerous combination of smarts and looks, he'd Sins of Yesterday figured that out in seconds. He would have to act fast and sever every tie she held to his family. Starting with Robert, who was Sins of Yesterday most likely on the rebound and Miss Truman like the viper her sort were, was taking full advantage. Robert was in a weak place that's why he'd come out here looking. To find her but he'd found more than he'd been looking for. Who went skinny dipping around here, he set his teeth and bit hard as he felt the press of her nipple. Damn the woman. He'd had a plan of action now, and he hated to admit it, his head was all over the place. A naked woman never did that to him, and Miss Truman was only half nude. He swore bitterly under his breath.

"Let me go," she squirmed.

He couldn't stop the groan. A part of him wanted to throw Sins of Yesterday her aside let the damned witch drown and run. The Sins of Yesterday other...

He felt desire. Only a short distance to the shore, concentrate on that Stian.

He didn't trust women. His mouth twisted as he easily reached the shore. She wriggled in his arms, the water on their skin like a lubricant. God help him if she wasn't sending Sins of Yesterday fire into his veins moving around like that.

"Hold still dammit."

"Don't swear at me." She pushed at his chest with both hands managing to land herself solidly on her butt.

"Satisfied," he watched her rub her backside trying to soothe. His eyes wouldn't stay away from her nudity. Desire flashed up his thighs like a lightning strike. He gritted his teeth hard and took a few steps back and crouched. He breathed easier as she seemed to remember and covered up his torment wrapping her arms over her chest. He swore and managed finally to look away. He was acting like a randy boy honestly and he had come out here to put an end to her scheming.

What a laugh.

"Are you always swearing?"

"Are you always prancing around nude?"

"I wasn't prancing...there wasn't anyone around and its far enough from the house. Not that it's any of your business."

"And what if I make it...thanks for the free show." He was being low riling her up to deflect his growing need.

"Are you implying I did this on purpose?" She looked sweet biting the corner of her Sins of Yesterday lip like that. Sweet and enticing.

"If the shoe fits." He shuffled into a more Sins of Yesterday comfortable position, the sound of the stones under his feet the only to be heard.

"You don't like me and I don't understand that because we've never met."

He didn't have to like her to want her apparently.

"A stranger, a man in the woods with not a soul nearby," he narrowed his eyes for effect.

"Are you trying to scare me?" Her head lifted, "I'm not afraid of you."

"No?"

"No," she didn't hesitate.

"Maybe you Sins of Yesterday should be...especially with the heated thoughts shrouding my brain."

Her honey eyes touched his and held and he could feel the Sins of Yesterday water steaming off his body.
