Chapter 1

I've had people faint in my presence before, but never had one to drop dead at my feet—literally. The girl I was chatting with at the cafe suddenly began to choke and shake. Her drink slipped from her hand and she collapsed onto the floor. Her body convulsed and her eyes rolled to the back of her head. The spilt hot chocolate made it look as if she were lying in a pool of brown blood.

I knew the drink had been poisoned. I knew it in my gut when I bent down to inspect her body and the drink on the floor. And I also knew that I was somehow responsible for what happened. She died because of me. But I didn't admit any of this to myself until later.

At the time, however, I only thought that perhaps it was a good idea to stay away from hot chocolate.

Maybe I should start at the beginning. Or The Emma Wild Mysteries Box Set: Complete Holiday Collection Books 1-4 (Cozy Romantic Mysteries with Recipes) should I say the end? A story can begin with heartbreak or end with one, but I was sure not willing to let both happen.

Jazz, blue-eyed soul, alternative and mainstream pop are some of the ways they would try to categorize my music.

How would I categorize myself? An incurable romantic. And a singer.

I wasn't always that girl on MTV singing about heartbreak The Emma Wild Mysteries Box Set: Complete Holiday Collection Books 1-4 (Cozy Romantic Mysteries with Recipes) in a husky alto voice choked full of tears. I didn't always wear body-hugging dresses and my red hair in glamorous waves styled over one eye. I grew up in Hartfield, Ontario, a town about an hour and a half from Toronto. It was a charming town and my family still lived there, but at eighteen years old, I tailed on out of there, forgoing college to pursue my singing career. For two years, I busted my ass singing at every open mic in New York City. I knocked on every door and pushed demo tapes into the hands of anyone who was connected to anyone until finally somebody gave me a chance. Then it became a blur from there.

My record company was behind me every step of the way—at least in the looks department. I was a control freak in the studio, so I let them play with my hair and makeup and put me in designer clothes and on the cover of magazines while I picked which producers, musicians and video directors I wanted to work with.
